

LT Game Limited Announces Appeal Following Patent Dispute Judgment in Macau

Hong Kong/Macau, 23 September 2025 – Paradise Entertainment Limited (the “Company”, together with its subsidiaries referred to as the “Group”) (HKEx stock code: 1180) refers to a recent judgment (the “Judgment”) issued by the Macau Judicial Court of First Instance (the “Court”) dismissing the patent claims lodged by the Group’s subsidiaries, including LT Game Limited, against subsidiaries of Light & Wonder concerning two electronic table game patents registered in Macau. We disagree with the rationale provided in the Judgment and have immediately launched an appeal based on legal advice from our lawyers.

In the Judgment, the Court determined that our two Macau-registered patents, despite having successfully completed all required legal formalities and scrutiny by the relevant patent authorities in accordance with relevant laws and regulations, did not meet the necessary legal requirements and were therefore declared null and void. We firmly believe that protecting intellectual property rights is essential for fostering innovation, securing business development, and instilling confidence in our clients and society regarding the reliability and uniqueness of our innovative products. While we respect the judicial process, we strongly disagree with this decision and remain committed to defending our intellectual property rights.

We have been advised by our lawyers to refrain from further commentary on the specifics of the case at this stage. However, we remain confident in the validity of our patents and the innovative contributions they represent to the gaming industry. As always, we appreciate the support of our stakeholders and will provide updates as the appeal progresses.
